DEDICATION

To our cherished sponsors, Miss Karon Kennedy, who guided us during our Sophomore and Junior years, and Miss Laura Humphries, who was our leading spirit in our Senior year, we dedicate our 1944 MARSHALLITE as a token of our appreciation.

THE LIBRARY OF VIRGINIA
RICHMOND, VA

FOREWORD

THE graduates of the class of 1944 have a great privilege and a grave responsibility. They will go out from school into a world at war. Theirs is the duty to help finish this strife, theirs the challenge to aid in building a world whose basic principles are peace, harmony, justice for all, and freedom to live their lives in their own way, along with the opportunity to work for their livelihood. "These are the times that try men's souls."

John Marshall has, for almost a half century, been a leader in educating the youth of Richmond. The school is now doing and will continue to do its utmost to prepare its students for the critical times to follow.

Assistant Principal

WE MARSHALLITES are proud of our school. Each day we find some new wonders in this vast storehouse of knowledge. For thirty-five years John Marshall High School has offered its treasures to the students who have attended it.

In chemistry we learn of elements, of compounds, of commonplace, everyday substances like sugar and salt, while the students of physics explore the mysteries of motion, gravity, pressure, and electricity as applied to our lives. Biology deals with the study of plant and animal life; geography teaches us of the earth's crust. All these sciences we have in our science department, and to these has been added, for benefit of the boys, pre-induction physics, a course in physics suited to the needs of the Army. In all our science courses, we have textbook training and field work as well. The collecting of butterflies, bugs of all descriptions, flowers, leaves, and samples of the various flora and fauna of our section of the country, is great fun as well as an instructive part of biology.

Particularly for girls are classes in home economics which deal with cooking, sewing, and household management. Here they learn not only how to sew and cook, but, too, how to manage homes, budgeting, how to serve properly, good taste in decorating their own rooms and homes, good taste in selecting their clothes as to materials and patterns, all the practical problems of home management which, more than likely, they will need in the not-too-distant future. They discuss social problems, manners, and correct procedure in everyday happenings. This year at John Marshall the girls are offered a new course in family relations.

On the other hand, the boys can take machine shop, electricity, mechanical drawing, and auto essentials. Since the war, many boys have found it helpful to take pre-induction radio, since it teaches the basic principles of this subject.

The vocal classes, under the direction of Mr. Charles Troxell, have become among the most popular in the school. For those who are talented and wish to continue with the study of voice, there are the Girls' Chorus and the A Capella Choir. Another form of musical study offered is the orchestra, which is conducted by Captain James H. Donohue. These groups all have officers who take care of the business part of their activities just like any other organization. The choir and orchestra often play and sing at other schools and at special civic occasions. Their season is climaxed by the Virginia Music Festival, which is held in Richmond every spring. Our vocal classes and our orchestra, as well as the John Marshall cadet band, are quite often called upon to help out in the city for various reasons. During the Community Fund drive, for many parades, bond sales, and the like, our pupils are called upon to help in the programs—a privilege which they enjoy, as well as do willingly, to lend a helping hand. Every other year at John Marshall, an opera is given, done mostly by the vocal classes, accompanied by our orchestra. On alternating years, of which this year was one, at the school play, the orchestra furnishes music for intermission.

In order to graduate from John Marshall, a student must complete three years of English, one of American history, and democracy, which is a one-term class. The English classes deal alternately with grammar and literature. Three of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies, Julius Caesar, Macbeth, and Hamlet, in addition to novels and poetry, are studied in this class. We study in American history the colonization and wars of our nation. The other history classes, which are not compulsory, study about the civilizations of Near Eastern and European countries. Democracy, which was added to our curriculum this year, is the thorough study of the American's freedom and the citizen's duties in return for these privileges. This class is unique in the fact that there is no one textbook, but the information used is gathered from many sources. The subjects studied in this course are those that cannot be fully explained in history. Also included in this history department is a course in Modern Problems. Here the students delve into the everyday problems of business, finding out what training is necessary for various vocations, where and how such training may be procured, learning about many different occupations, in order that they may be better prepared to choose the ones they would like most. All sorts of topics are brought up in this class as is shown by its very name. This year the modern problems class studied as one project juvenile delinquency, and gave a public discussion on the subject. Parents and friends came and entered in, too, giving the adult point of view.

The language department offers us Latin, French, and Spanish. The Latin classes read the legends of ancient heroes and the works of the great Latin poets, while the students of French read some of the famous novels of France and, in addition to their regular work, they learn words which are frequently used since the beginning of the war. The United States' Good Neighbor Policy, South American countries, and literature, are studied by the Spanish classes. In addition to these classes there are two clubs, the Don Juan and Sans Souci, which stimulate interest in the languages. The Don Juan, or Spanish Club, discusses news and our relations to Spanish-speaking countries, while Sans Souci, which is the French Club, presents skits, puppet shows, and plays games in French—which is a most exciting pastime.

The commercial classes are divided into two courses, one leading to stenographic work, and the other to accountancy. Shorthand, typewriting, and bookkeeping are the subjects taught in this course. These classes are among the most popular at John Marshall, because the department has such a fine reputation, and this type of work is so much in demand. Business men are always coming or phoning to see if they can get boys or girls, after school, or pupils who come half day, to work. The commercial students are kept busy, having their regular classes in typing and shorthand, then the daily period for transcription. They know that practice is necessary, and are eager and anxious to use all their spare time to increase their speed or accuracy.

The mathematics department offers to the students one year of plane geometry, two years of algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry. In connection with these is the Math Club which discusses navigation, solves difficult and tricky problems, and learns of the practical uses of math. In the past few years when enough students have applied for the course, a class in refresher math has been offered. Merely a concise review of the most important facts in arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry, with a slight amount of calculus added; this course is especially good for boys who are to be inducted into the armed forces shortly, but even some girls do enroll.

One of the most important jobs of the art classes is to design and make the sets for the spring plays or operas. In addition to this, the classes study costume designing, commercial art, portraits, and other subjects. Making objects from clay and then baking them in the oven is a great pleasure to many of the art students. Some make pins and other jewelry, others small ornaments, etc., but since our oven is small, the objects to be baked must be small, too.

The public speaking class helps to develop poise and assurance before an audience. The drama class presents plays and skits before assembly or classes. Each spring either a play or an opera is presented by the Senior class. This spring a play, The Fighting Littles, adapted from the book by Booth Tarkington, was given by Miss Mary L. Peple and the drama class. This class also studies the history of the theater in addition to their dramatic presentations. While only Seniors were allowed to take these classes formerly, high Juniors now have this privilege.

Those persons who make exceptionally good grades in English 5x have an opportunity to take either journalism or creative writing instead of English 7x. The journalism students learn about news stories, ad writing, feature stories, headlines, and newspaper make-up. In the last half of their Senior year they become members of the staff of The Monocle and edit the paper. On the other hand, the creative writing class studies short stories, essays, poetry, and writes for our school magazine. The members of this class do not necessarily make The Record staff. A booklet, Highlights for Marshallites, is published each year for newcomers at John Marshall. It contains information concerning the classes, teachers, clubs, cadets and other facts of interest. The aim of all staff members is to make Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists.

In Diversified Occupational Training, which is taught by Miss Josephine Hyde, Seniors study the two required subjects and one period of salesmanship. Their afternoons are spent working in local stores, for which they are given credit at school. Similar to D. O. T. there is Diversified Occupational Work, under the direction of Mr. Keeling Sisson. This class, which is open only to boys, features work of a mechanical nature, such as electricity, machine shop, and woodwork, and is divided into two parts. The first term is orientation, which places the boys in the work for which they are best suited, while in the last half the boys specialize in the type of work they have chosen.

Courses in physical education are offered both boys and girls. In bad weather these are taught in the gymnasium, but when the weather is bright and warm enough, the classes are held in our athletic field. All sorts of calisthenics and exercises are given the students. They learn team work and have real fun playing volley ball, soft ball, taking track, playing basketball, and all kinds of games suitable for physical education classes. These classes are separate and distinct classes, and not connected with the regular athletic schedule.

In athletics, we have football, basketball, track, and tennis for the boys, and hockey, basketball, soft ball, and tennis for the girls. Our teams compete with many city and state schools, and our boys with a few out-of-state opponents.

John Marshall has had a cadet corps for many years. We are proud of our cadets. They always rate high in the Government inspection. There are six companies, and the band, headed by the staff. The commandant, Major Earl Brown, not only sees that the boys are well trained in military tactics, but in character as well. The cadet officers yearly take a trip to West Point to see a real military school. Many of our cadets have gone to

Our library is one of the largest and best in the South. It contains about 14,000 volumes in addition to many magazines and newspapers. There are also many rare and valuable books, some of which date back to the sixteenth century.

At John Marshall students assist with the work of conducting the library, thus learning the rudiments of this valued profession. Many student librarians upon leaving John Marshall have been able, without further training, to secure worth-while positions in public libraries, thus finding a life-career because of the educational opportunity along this line which is offered at our school.

A machinist, first class

For health's sake

The goal of every student of John Marshall is to be invited to become a member of the National Honor Society, because this organization represents the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service and character.

Since the war began, our students have formed a victory corps. They drill daily, keeping their bodies exercised and in good condition. Then they help out in various war projects when called upon.

Most important of all, however, the victory corps gives all the students an opportunity to feel that they are mobilized for action—any approved action that will speed the cause of victory for the Allies. It helps to build morale, both for those who upon leaving school will take up the varied duties of civilian life and, more important still, for those who will enter some branch of the country's armed services. It gives the boys and girls a sense of "belonging" to their country and being a part of its activities in these vital, stirring times. Each week they sell bonds and stamps through their home rooms, each striving to beat the others in the amount of their sales.

Our Junior Red Cross and our Student Association are organizations to which everyone belongs. Both of these groups play a definite part in our school life. The Red Cross work keeps alive the virtues of human sympathy for suffering and the responsibility and privilege of brotherhood, the world over. The Student Association trains students in the principles of self-government and social responsibility. Then there are various clubs like the Forum Club, the Hi-Y Club, the Girl Reserve Club, in which membership is optional. In these the members find education as well as amusement.

An analysis of the various organizations in connection with our school life will show that each has its separate and distinct function. Upon the principle that "all work and no play" not only makes Jack and Jill a dull boy and girl, retarding mental progress and "blocking traffic" for others who are due to follow after, but warps and dwarfs character as well—upon this principle, our various clubs were established, and the social value of these organizations is recognized and appreciated.

Starting in 1909, and replacing Richmond High School, John Marshall has grown and prospered under the superior leadership of its one principal, Mr. James Coleman Harwood. It has helped educate many prominent citizens of our city, state, and nation. John Marshall, while for years a military school, has nevertheless stressed the development of character along the lines of good statesmanship. The past few years, however, it has had to turn its attention sharply to the inculcation into its students the traits necessary to good soldiering—and we find we have had good material. The school has furnished its full quota of men for both World Wars, and daily is giving more to the present one. Its alumni in the armed forces, whenever on furlough, returning to see their old friends among its teaching staff and student body, are always welcomed. It is thrilling to see those so recently our comrades in class now wearing the uniform of our country, and often the decorations which speak of valor and courage in the face of danger, and always with the look of far-off places and grim scenes lingering in their eyes.

Don't you think we have just cause to be proud of our own John Marshall?

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

"WE CAME, we saw, we conquered." In language of present vogue, "We hit the deck, saw the port, and dived in." It has been a struggle for some and easy going for others. To most of us it might be said that these past three years have been a combination of "Boogie-woogie" and "Bach." The result to all, however, is three precious years from each of our lives, years packed full of treasured memories.

'Twas a crisp September morn in 1941 that, as proud Sophomores, we first entered the portals of this dear old institution. We suddenly felt lost, like peas out of a pod and this was such a big pod! After our first trip through the tunnel to the auditorium, where we were welcomed by Mr. Fowlkes, we began to feel completely at home. Then when we were greeted by Miss Karon Kennedy the teacher with that winning smile, who was to be our class sponsor, we immediately found ourselves looking forward to the days ahead.

All began to center their thoughts upon the election of those who were to lead our class as an organization. With much enthusiasm we elected Billy Jasper as our president. Those to assist him were Josephine Hoover, vice-president; Olga Skorapa, secretary; Gilbert Henley, treasurer; Phyllis Lindsey, reporter; and Bobby Day historian.

We sophomores were not to be without social life. On the afternoon of the picnic, Forest Hill Park became the scene of a Sadie Hawkins Day Race, but to no avail, as the girls found that the boys just would not be caught. The afternoon at the Cavalier Arena was really a gay time for the sophomores. There were four dances during the year, the last of which was in honor of the seniors.

The ruthless attack of the aggressors on Pearl Harbor marked our nation's direct entrance into the world conflict, and we returned to school a more serious group of boys and girls. Now as we saw our brothers and fathers and then our classmates going off to fight, most of us realized that even we must make sacrifices and accept new responsibilities. Of course there were fewer social activities. With Miss Kennedy as our class sponsor again, organization took place, and our officers were elected. These were George Stein, president; Martha Nuckols, vice-president; and Doris Boykin, secretary. As treasurer we chose Jack Keith, while Margaret Martin was reporter, and Billy Willard, historian.

A skating party proved to be a send off full of fun and enthusiasm. With the "sweet" as well as "hot" music of local dance orchestras, the Wythe Gym was the scene of some "smooth" dancing done by the sophs, juniors, and seniors twice during that year. When February arrived we bade good-bye to members of our class who became seniors, and at the same time we welcomed the new juniors at a skating party at the Cavalier Arena.

Our patriotism for school and country was combined, as the purchase of a war stamp granted the privilege to vote for Who's Who. The returns revealed Teddy Throckmorton and Hilda Adams to be the cutest boy and girl; Gerard Bradley, most handsome; Laura Ann Barrett, prettiest; and Betty Nicholas and Claude Patterson, most athletic girl and boy. Others were Jack Mallory and Suzanne Lovern, smartest boy and girl; Gilbert Henley, best cadet, and Bill Farmer and Lindy Lou Easter, most patriotic boy and girl.

Having fewer social gatherings during that year, we undertook other and more vital projects. We compiled a list of boys who had left to go in the service during their junior year, and at Christmas sent a box to each of them. Also, during the year a part of the contents of our treasury was donated to the Red Cross Fund Drive.

The local "jive hounds" as well as "smooth waltzers" turned out to climax the year. The thought which was ours was shrouded in a mixture of thrill and anxiety. We would be seniors.

We arrived at school full of vim and vigor. Having learned that the friendly and attractive Miss Laura Humphries was to sponsor the senior class, plans for organization were under way. The candidates for offices were chosen, and in assembly the campaign was launched with enthusiasm. Again we were granted two privileges

Let's cheer 'em on!

If we had gas, we'd ride in one—all voters bought a war stamp. As our leader we chose Gilbert Henley, while Pauline Tucker was to assist him. The secretary was Jean Purdy, and treasurer, Jack Keith. Jane Wright was reporter, and Carl Lunsford, historian.

To start the ball rolling, Marshallites laid aside their books and "brains" to dance awhile in the Wythe gym. Upon two afternoons during the year, seniors were to be seen skating rythmically with their classmates at the Cavalier Arena. The popularity contest was next on the senior calendar. It was voted that among seniors the cutest lad and lassie were Gilbert Henley and Pauline Tucker, while the title of most popular was bestowed upon Dick Nash and Carolyn Carr. Most handsome was George King, while the feminine beauty in our midst proved to be Faye Hines. The athletic ability was attributed to Whit Crowell and Kate Gilham. As smartest boy and girl we chose Gilbert Henley and Suzanne Lovern, and biggest line-shooters, Billy Hallmark and Christine Harris. Our best cadet and best victory corps girl were Gilbert Henley and Lindy Lou Easter, respectively. George Stein and Barbara Simpson were selected as the lame-brainiest boy and girl, and best-all-around lad and lassie were Gilbert Henley and Jane Wright.

As was the custom of the Senior Class, we presented, as a parting gift to our school, a portrait of George Washington. This painting was to hang by that of Martha Washington which had been presented in past years by another senior class.

As we close the pages of our high school history, we wish to pause and pay tribute to our teachers and our principal. We shall treasure not only their guidance and understanding but, above all, their friendship.

Suzanne Lovern,
Class Historian.

On the substitute list

HERE we are, Juniors of good old John Marshall! We have successfully completed our sophomore year and are anxiously waiting for the few days to end and the time to come when we shall become seniors.

During the first half of our junior year the class was not formed. It seemed that we all missed so much the good times we had as sophomores with Miss Elizabeth Webb for our sponsor and Billy Mayo for president that on January 11, 1944, just before the first half of the junior term ended, the class was formed.

We were very fortunate indeed in having Miss Webb to lead us.

This year the officers were elected in a different way. First of all, the membership drive was held, and the candidates for officers were chosen from those who joined the class. On January 19 they were introduced to the juniors in assembly.

The next day the members voted in their home rooms by ballot. Capable Charles Nuckols was chosen as president, and popular Miriam Clark as vice-president. We elected Shirley Lett for secretary and treasurer. This term the offices of reporter and historian were combined, and Jean Holmes was elected to this office.

To start the new term right, we had a dance. It took place on

Just a dime between us

March 3 in the Wythe Gym, and the seniors and sophomores were invited. Everyone enjoyed himself dancing to the music of a nickelodeon. Clyde Jeffrey and Virginia Pendergraft won prizes as the best jitterbugs, and the judges chose Nan Dean, a charming junior, and Henry Salsbury as the most graceful dancers. Nan keeps up the morale of the service men every Saturday night by attending the O. C. D. dances. Every time the subject is mentioned she breaks out with a big smile. Ah, Nan! The gym was decorated by many colored lights, which made the girls look enchanting to the male eye. It was an informal dance, and because of the 11:00 p.m. curfew law, the gay time had to end at 10:30 p.m. Miss Webb and Mr. Harwood, Sr., were among our guests.

We were all pleased when we heard about the junior "Who's Who" contest, which was held on the last two days of February, at first recess. Because of the paper shortage, we voted without ballots, and we chose the ones who we believed deserved the various honors.

My brother is there

Victory Corps Captains

Charming Dot Patterson was voted the best-looking girl in the class. Dot was First Battalion sponsor last term. Frank Owen, first captain in the victory corps, received the title of best-looking boy. Peggy Hassell and Saul Luria received the majority of votes for the most intelligent girl and boy of the junior class. Peggy is the secretary of the Student Association. Two pretty Marshallites tied for the title of cutest girl. They were Audrey Wilkinson, "C" Company sponsor, and blonde Shirley Roberts. We had no trouble in choosing the cutest boy; he's Robert Duling. For best-all-round girl and boy, the awards went to friendly Miriam Clark and Charley (On-the-Beam) Nuckols. Charley also was voted most popular boy and Dot Patterson, most popular girl. I'm sure we all agreed that the title of most athletic girl should go to Madelyne Yancey, and Don (Pretty-Boy) Stahl well deserved being elected most athletic boy. How about that! Alyce Finke and William Proffitt boast the title of best-dressed boy and girl, while June Gentry and Billy Ashley are considered the best dancers. "L" Company of the victory corps was very proud when Shirley McGee, their ex-captain, was announced as best victory corps girl. Handsome Stuart Holmes of "B" Company came in first place with the title of best cadet. How about that, girls?

As we look around, we find many outstanding members in the junior class. Charles Nuckols, a very outstanding Marshallite, is president of the class. Charley is also lieutenant-adjutant on the staff of the boys' victory corps. He well deserved the titles of most popular and best-all-round boy. His favorite pastime is building model airplanes. Snappy-looking little Miriam Clark made an excellent vice-president. Miriam is on the executive committee of the Student Association, and she is also second lieutenant of "L" Company in the girls' victory corps. This outstanding junior came in first place with the title of best-all-round girl. She likes playing the piano and dancing—with a certain you-know-who! Peggy Hassell was secretary of the John Marshall Student Association. Other juniors who were members of the executive committee were Shirley Armstrong, Cornelia Ayre, Shirley McGee, Charles Nuckols, and Miriam Clark. We are also proud to have so many of our juniors taking part in the activities of our school. Shirley Armstrong was publicity and membership chairman of the Christian Youth Club, and the chairman of the cafeteria committee. Caroline Lynn was vice-president of the Christian Youth Club. Our boys took great interest in the track team. Allen Adair and George McKinney are captains in the boys' victory corps, and many of the captains of the girls' victory corps are juniors. Keep it up, guys and gals!

Great excitement was aroused when some of the members of the junior class met after school on March 9 to have their pictures taken for the annual.

The next social function of the junior class was a skating party which was held on April 26, shortly after we returned from our Easter holidays. The Cavalier Arena was filled with happy, smiling Marshallites. The great variety of music got us in the mood, and we found out that we have many talented boys and girls, not only in dancing but also in skating.

At the present time we are planning a dance. This will probably be our last get-together this year.

Although we must now close the door to our junior career, the memory of this year will linger with us forever. We wish to thank Miss Webb from the very bottom of our hearts for her fine leadership and interest in our class. Also we want to express our deep gratitude to the junior officers who helped to make this a class we are proud to belong to and proud to pass on to others.

We are all looking forward to our senior year, and we feel sure that we can make as great a success of our last year at John Marshall as we have of our junior year.

JEAN F. HOLMES, Historian-Reporter.

Sophomores AND THEIR CLASS HISTORY

Teacher's little helper

We're Record readers
Get your ticket here

THE day of September 9 was a great day for us sophomores who, having been graduated from our respective junior high schools, were being entered as the youngest class at the Senior High School of John Marshall. We had looked forward with much joy and a little awe to this day. We had been the upper classmen in junior high, and here we would be lowly "Sophs." But even that let-down feeling left us when we enrolled in the George Wythe building of John Marshall High School.

We had much fun getting schedules straightened out, meeting our new schoolmates and our teachers, and more or less starting our school life over. We buckled right in and did our part, and in a few weeks everything had settled down to regular routine.

We found life here in our new school quite exciting. Besides lessons to get, classes to meet, friends to greet, etc., we had assemblies every week to glean the forecast of coming events, games to attend where we made all the noise we could in behalf of our teams, home room period at which time we bought all we could afford of war savings stamps and bonds, paper drives to save old paper for Red Cross, and numerous other activities.

The Monocle, our school paper, came out every two weeks, and we did our best to get our names printed there. The Record, our literary magazine, afforded us an opportunity to vie with our fellow-students to see who could write the best story or poem. Then we could enjoy, in these publications, our efforts as well as those of our friends.

Some of us had classes in the John Marshall building. In cold or rainy weather we were very thankful that a big tunnel from building to building had been built, enabling us to make this trip without going out of doors.

We had a great number of our boys in the cadet corps. After finishing our lunch, we would congregate out on Eighth and Marshall and watch the cadets march by, often being led by a mounted police who kindly kept back the traffic.

Each day the schedule allowed for a forty-five-minute period for the victory corps. Then we could all go out and march in our respective companies or take calisthenics. Our lives were full of a variety of activities.

When January came we began in earnest review for our tests at the end of the first term. We found they weren't so bad, and most of us emerged high sophomores. We were then reinforced by a new crop just up from junior high again.

In the spring came our school play, "The Fighting Littles," by Booth Tarkington. Our class was thrilled at the idea that, on our very own stage, our very own students would present a public performance. We sold tickets and all came, either to the first or the second performance.

Spring brought new activities in athletics. The boys worked hard for their track and tennis teams and the girls put forth just as much effort in making their soft ball, track, and tennis teams the tops. It was great fun to go out for one of these sports. The warm weather added zest to the victory corps and to the physical education classes. More students came outside at recess to watch the happenings. The annual staff took pictures of sophomore activity, and a great time was had by all.

Now we began to look eagerly forward to the next fall when we would be juniors, registered in John Marshall, the building across the street. We would not like leaving our Wythe, its kind teachers and friends, but we could come back to visit, and perhaps to take classes. We would meet and make new friends over in the other building, and soon we would find ourselves seniors, perhaps all too soon. We now began to realize that our secondary school life, the happiest, most carefree days of our lives, was fast slipping by. We began to see that we would go out from school either into a world still at war, or one trying to recover from its ravages. We would have to have courage and bravery to face what would meet us.

Our sophomore year has been splendid for, besides having been developed both mentally and physically, we have made a host of new friends and had a great deal of fun. We have had a taste of high school life and are eagerly awaiting our junior joys.

The Library Staff

THE library staff has been most successful this year in keeping the library running smoothly. The staff has had to take care of an ever-increasing load due to interests in new subjects and greater desire for informational and recreational reading.

To serve in the library, applicants must come up to certain standards and must meet those standards at all times in order to have the privilege of remaining a staff member. Each assistant must make all his work, perform library duties well, report regularly and be willing to do any task asked of him.

Duties are varied, such as checking permits at the door, charging and slipping books, writing fine notices, collecting fines, shelving books, etc.

Library experience has proven most instructive to all assistants. Several girls have obtained jobs at the Richmond Public Library due to their library training at John Marshall.

National Honor Society

Scholarship: To think without confusion clearly;
Service: To love his fellow-man sincerely;
Leadership: To act from honest motives purely;
Character: And trust in God and heaven securely.

AS THE twenty-five new initiates moved slowly down the aisle bathed in the soft light which shone forth from the candles carried by the old members, their knees shook and their hands trembled as they finally became members of the John Marshall Chapter of the National Honor Society to the theme noted above.

As eagerly as the future was faced in this society, it held many pleasant surprises. We were headed by Gay Nell Ellett, that efficient blonde—of course, blondes can be efficient—under whose leadership such fun was had at the Banquet at Ewart's Cafeteria just before Christmas. Claiborne Whitworth, at whom everyone yelled, "Hey, Gooch!" every few minutes, helped Gay Nell, as did Alice Harrell, the charming vice-president. Helen Condyles as secretary and Doris Boykin, treasurer, just about knocked themselves out in an effort to help. And how they did succeed!

Again the impressive ceremony has been enacted, admitting fifteen more members to the portals of this coveted society. This time Jean Purdy, as president, has welcomed these initiates, ably assisted by cute li'l ole Pat Adams, vice-president. Jean may be glimpsed dashing madly through the halls almost any time; she's a busy soul. Arleen Reynolds as secretary and Josephine Hoover as treasurer have really been busy this year; it's a wonder they know what they're doing.

No mention of the Honor Society would be complete without Miss Williams, the adviser. Through her efforts, this society has grown to a high place in school esteem. Its maintaining this place has been due in large part to the untiring work of Miss Williams and her time so generously given.

Quill and Scroll

SINCE last September the John Marshall chapter of Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, which was organized in 1930, has accepted thirty-eight members. These students were in the upper third in class standing, had done distinctive work in business or creative endeavor on a publication, were recommended by the publication adviser, and had been accepted by the chapter sponsor and by the executive secretary of Quill and Scroll.

With lighted candles on December 6, twenty-four members pledged themselves to uphold the high ideals of Quill and Scroll.

At the annual Christmas party on December 18, the alumni and new members discussed past work and future plans. Some members of the faculty and of the journalism class were guests.

The chapter made its annual visit to the Poe Shrine on April 20, to have the group picture made for the MARSHALLITE. Here the society saw a model of Poe's Richmond, portraits of Poe and his family, and furniture of his period. Here, too, Miss Charles Anthony, sponsor, was hostess at a tea for Quill and Scroll members.

Fourteen members came into the chapter on April 26, when an initiation was held in Junior assembly.

On May 8, Mrs. Colgate W. Darden showed her bird slides to the chapter, when members of the Thomas Jefferson chapter were guests of the John Marshall society.

The Quill and Scroll scrapbook compiled by John Funkhouser last year won a silver trophy. This was the fourth time that the John Marshall chapter had been honored as the best of all the more than twenty-five hundred chapters in the annual competition for chapters in the United States and foreign nations.

As another project the society prepared contributions from the magazine and newspaper to offer in the Scholastic awards contest.

One of the main activities of the chapter was the compiling of a list of the names of men in service that have been students of John Marshall.

Drama Class, First Term

THE Class of Drama is the outgrowth of a dramatic organization of the same name formerly an extra-curricular activity organized and sponsored by Mrs. Charlotte Wheeler DeCourcy, who procured the present stage, curtains, and equipment in the regular class room, 209. Through the efforts of Miss Eva Branch and Mrs. DeCourcy, it became a regular class in 1938, a part of the public speaking course. Students eligible for this course are those who make good grades on Public Speaking I and desire a course in dramatics. The students act, direct, and put on plays, doing all the work themselves with help and advice from the teacher. During the term each student takes part in one sketch from a three-act play and three one-act plays. He works on committees, such as library, costume, lights, make-up, props, bulletin board, and set. He makes a note book containing an outline of the history of drama and all notes pertaining to committee work, a record of plays produced, drawings of sets and programs, and pictures of period costumes. The student plans his own sets, borrows or creates the properties he uses, and learns to co-operate with the whole class. He meets, sees, and produces good plays. He practices control of body and voice, and the more work he does, the more fun he has.

Drama Class, Second Term

FOR the first time in the school history, the spring play was cast entirely from the Drama Class. Usually tryouts are held for everybody who wishes to act, but our present war schedule allows so little outside time for rehearsal that it was necessary to produce The Fighting Littles in the class period. Fifteen pupils were needed for the cast; the rest were cast in one-act plays and rehearsed in Room 209 while the Senior play was being rehearsed in the auditorium.

When the one-act plays were ready for production, rehearsals were suspended for their presentation. They included: Red Wax, Letters, The Clouds, All's Vanity, Wrong Numbers, and Fluerette and Company.

After the school production, the entire class worked on one-act plays, producing The Valiant, The Devil on Stilts, Two Crooks and a Lady, A Proposal Under Difficulties, etc.

From fantasy to tragedy, drama in nearly all its forms was demonstrated. Customs and manners of the last three centuries and the land of Make-Believe were practiced and illustrated. All students worked on costumes, sets, make-up, lights, and all the problems of production. A brief survey of the history of drama served as a background for drama appreciation. Two truths are learned through experience: Co-operation is necessary for success, and "Actions speak louder than words."

Sans Souci Club

SANS SOUCI! And that's just what our club is—carefree! Once a week the members of the club gather in our sponsor's home room to use what French they know in the way of playing games. Allez-oop, somewhat like bingo, is a favorite among us. The first term Dora Plotnick and Miss Mildred Kline, our sponsor, planned the programs that we would enjoy most and still learn a little about French art and culture. The club had many copies of paintings by French artists, with which we played clever games. Puppet shows and short plays helped amuse us, also. Since Dora graduated in February, Alice Goodman took over her work. Attractive prizes were given to the winners.

The Don Juan Club joined us this year when we held our annual banquet on January 13. Each club had a guest speaker. Madame Adele Brot spoke for us on French customs and living. Carol Alley was the witty master of ceremonies. For entertainment we produced catchy little skits.

Mr. James C. Harwood, Mr. Forbes H. Norris, and Miss Josephine Holt honored us by being present. Mr. Norris gave an inspiring talk on promoting the study of French.

Whether we have good voices or not, we all like to sing a little. The French classes join together whenever possible to sing songs from our collection.

This year the French Club sponsored the presentation of Jeanne d'Arc in May. Members of the vocal class were kind enough to take the roles in the operetta. Francis Waymack and Lindy Lou Easter portrayed Jeanne. Several members of the orchestra consented willingly to furnish the music. Miss Mildred Kline, Mr. Charles Troxell and Mr. J. H. Donahue directed the operetta with the help of the French and Spanish teachers.

Well, Etudiants de francais, remember all of you are invited to visit us, and join our club. Etudiez le francais pour la victoire.

¡BUENOS DIOS, amigos! El Club Don Juan again reports another successful and eventful year. Each term the club has grown in number until we now have sixty-five members.

We have had many interesting and varied programs through which we have learned much about the culture and life of our Buenos Vecinos to the south of us. It has been fun to play games and work puzzles in Spanish, to sing Spanish songs, to listen to Spanish records, to try out our acting ability and our Spanish accent in Escenas Comicas, and to see how many Quiz Kids we have.

The most important event of the year was our annual banquet. This year it was held jointly with the French Club on January 13 at Ewart's Monticello Room. How proud we were of our president, Marjorie Leonard, when she made that eloquent speech in Spanish!

Other interesting events of the year were a picnic at Forest Hill, a Christmas Party, a Benefit Party at Battery Park, and a Theater Party.

With "Adelante, siempre adelante" as our club motto, we look forward to another year of many activities. ¡Hasta la vista, amigos simpaticos, amigos buenos! Que la suerte os acompane.

John Marshall Hi-Y Club

Bob Warren	President
Claiborne Whitworth	Vice-President
Robert Gatewood	Secretary

REALIZING the necessity for an organization of its kind in wartime, the John Marshall Hi-Y Club endeavored to attain its goal of "high standards of Christian character" by various activities throughout the year. At the regular meetings each week the club engaged in different types of discussions, emphasizing the position of youth in the world today. Speakers, including missionaries and Y. M. C. A. secretaries, contributed much to this program.

On the patriotic side, the club sold war bonds and stamps at a local store. Several club members also answered the call of patriotism by entering the armed services.

Not to be found lacking on the entertaining point, the club dotted the year with their social activities. Among these we find the colorful rally before the annual clash with Thomas Jefferson. This was produced with the usual down-town parade which included the high school band. Next, we find several dances which were held at the Y. M. C. A. With the coming of spring the club had outings at various parks in the city.

With the making of a large poster to show the names of the men of John Marshall who died for their country in the Second World War, the John Marshall Hi-Y Club completed another year of activities.

JOHN MARSHALL High School's Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. J. H. Donohue, has taken part in many outstanding events this year.

Last fall, part of the orchestra played over W R V A on The Monocle Review. This spring it played during intermission for the school play. Each term the orchestra puts on a program for the assembly.

One of the biggest features of the year is the band and string clinics. Two of our members, Constance Krouse and Jimmy Keeton, both of whom play flute, went to Roanoke to the band clinic. Constance was the first flutist of the band clinic. There are many of our members who will attend the string clinic.

The Virginia State festival is another important event the orchestra attends. This year the John Marshall and the Thomas Jefferson Orchestras will be joined together to form a Richmond High School Orchestra.

The orchestra played for the French opera, "Joan of Arc," which was given by the Choir. Each term the concert meister and heads of sections are chosen by the vote of the orchestra and are approved by the director.

The orchestra will and shall continue to uphold the high standards of John Marshall and strive toward the goal of first honor.

THE MONOCLE

Claiborne Whitworth, Gay Nell Ellett, Co-Editors; Billy Anderson, Business Manager

Carl Lunsford, Wesley Thompson
Doris Wooldridge, Margaret Martin

VICTORY CORPS news! War news! Servicemen's news! Health news! . . . The Monocle, by fulfilling its purpose of keeping the school informed about important activities, is striving to bring the day of victory closer at hand.

Good health is one of the essentials of victory, for only with strong and healthy bodies can the best work be done. By published to make the American children physically fit, The Monocle staffs have worked the dreaded white plague and by publishing stories of the progress of the Victory Corps, which Captain Eddie Rickenbacker established to make the American children physically fit, The Monocle staffs have worked to keep the students health conscious.

"Paper Drive Nets 3,630 Pounds!" Urging students to co-operate with the projects of the Red Cross, The Monocle has served the Red Cross by announcing paper collections, the preparing of Christmas boxes for refugee children, the selling of bonds and stamps in local department stores, and the rolling of bandages.

Each issue the record of the last week's sales of war bonds and stamps appears in The Monocle and from time to time special stories on contests to boost the sales. For the fall term alone, the sales amounted to $34,907.95.

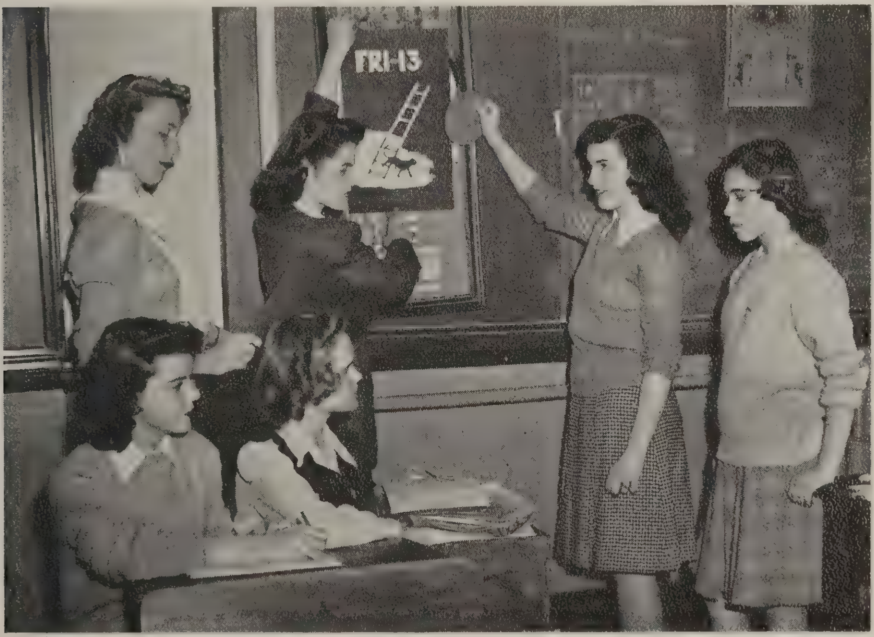
Each Marshallite has an opportunity to express himself in the war poll, where questions asked pertain to what professions they wish to pursue, how they would treat conquered peoples in the postwar period, and how they plan to use their war bonds. Many students favored the new curfew law, but many others felt stronger steps were necessary to halt juvenile delinquency.

John Marshall boys have given their all in this war, and many have made the supreme sacrifice. A new column dedicated to their many deeds of valor keeps the school informed of their awards, promotions, and movements. The Monocle finds its way into many camps and bases, even overseas.

The rising cafeteria prices, activities of the Student Association, the Community Fund drive, the teachers' aid in rationing, the salvaging of tin, and Education Week with Mr. James C. Harwood's and Mr. Forbes Norris's plans are some of the many other stories that have filled the pages of our interesting publication.

The Monocle celebrated another year of service on March 1, remembering the day fifteen years ago when Frank McCarthy, editor, now a colonel on General George C. Marshall's staff, with the guidance of Miss Charles Anthony and Mr. Walter Beverly, made that first Monocle.

Myra Watson, Verna Perry, Edward Meyer, James Luke, Audrey Strong



Standing: Virginia Williams, Christine Harris, Thelma Abernethy, Mary Lucille James. Seated: Dora Plotnick, Jean Carter

Doris Boykin, Jean Purdy, Pat Adams, Ann Beal, James Minor, Helen Mays, Josephine Hoover, Arleen Reynolds

Receiving the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Victory star certificate and first place rating, the same rating in the National Scholastic Press Association, and international honor rating, the highest from Quill and Scroll, The Monocle continued to win honors.

Editing the paper the first term were Claiborne Gooch Whitworth, who received awards for his editorials on juvenile delinquency and "Buy War Bonds and Stamps," and Gay Nell Ellett. The second term editors were Jean Carter and Mary Lucile James. Audrey Strong, James W. Luke, Jr., Edward Meyer, and Verna Perry managed the business during the year. Billy Anderson, Linwood Loth, and James Minor edited the news; while Doris Wooldridge, Wilbur Thomas and Arleen Reynolds managed the circulation.

Reading copy were Doris Boykin, Arthur Blakeslee, Helen Condyles, Polly Wray, Edward Coleman, Telford Eggleston, Helen Mays, Arleen Reynolds, and Jane Wright.

THE RECORD

TO GIVE body, take many hours of good hard work, with cokes frequently added, mix in a few hundred manuscripts, conveniently mussed to prevent reading, and sprinkle lightly with Mr. Beverly's humor. . . . What could possibly emerge from such a conglomeration but The Record?

This recipe is apparently, from all reports, a success. The First Class Honor rating awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association of some years back has now given way to All-American, our most noteworthy triumph to date. These new honors which adorn our walls are true evidence of the capability of John Marshall's students to produce fine literary work. If further proof is needed, we refer you to the three silver cups won at the Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Lexington.

Our little brunette, Lindy Lou Easter, who, incidentally, is also our business manager, has really been bustling this year. Between patronizing our advertisers and keeping our money straight, not to mention the poetry she has contributed, we often wonder what brand of sanity she uses—we might like to try it.

New books are appearing so rapidly, it amazes us that Ann K. Hasker, can keep up with them so well.

Perhaps you have seen that blonde of ours, Jean Cardwell, racing hither and yon muttering Spanish, French and Latin, or whatever happens to appear, in her mad effort to meet the deadline. Of course you know she heads "Each in His Own Tongue."

Discarding their judicial robes, our Chief Justices, Helen Mays, Thelma Ellingson, and Christine Mills, have made "Justices' Court" a Court of High Appeal.

What are those queer postmarks gracing the folders sent to Phyllis Lindsey? Of course you know her—big blue eyes, remember? She seems to be handling international affairs in her "Exchanges" now. Not that she can read them!

Our assistant editors, Elsie Keyser, Evelyn Randlette and Alice Goodman, are no slackers, either. What with keeping the co-editors on the straight and narrow path and trying to stay on it themselves, we often wonder.

The associate workers, poor dears, most assuredly have the most difficult time. Who bears the brunt of the co-editors' fury? The assistant editors. And who, in turn, is on the receiving end of the mighty three? The department heads, of course. But, alas! These demons descend upon whom? The poor mistreated associate workers, of course.

Last, but not least, we come to our literary adviser, Mr. Beverly. To him we owe the continued success and popularity of The Record. We can say no more than that he has won the staff's respect, admiration, and love.

Is it any wonder, then, that with such personages on our staff our parties are such huge successes? With music, dancing and traditional Christmas gaiety, our Christmas party started off with a bang. This had barely subsided when the theatre party made its appearance. Forsaking work for play, we discarded our books and had a most enjoyable afternoon. Fringed with more fun, we continued happily through the year, never dreaming to top it all with a press banquet. Guess who got fooled?

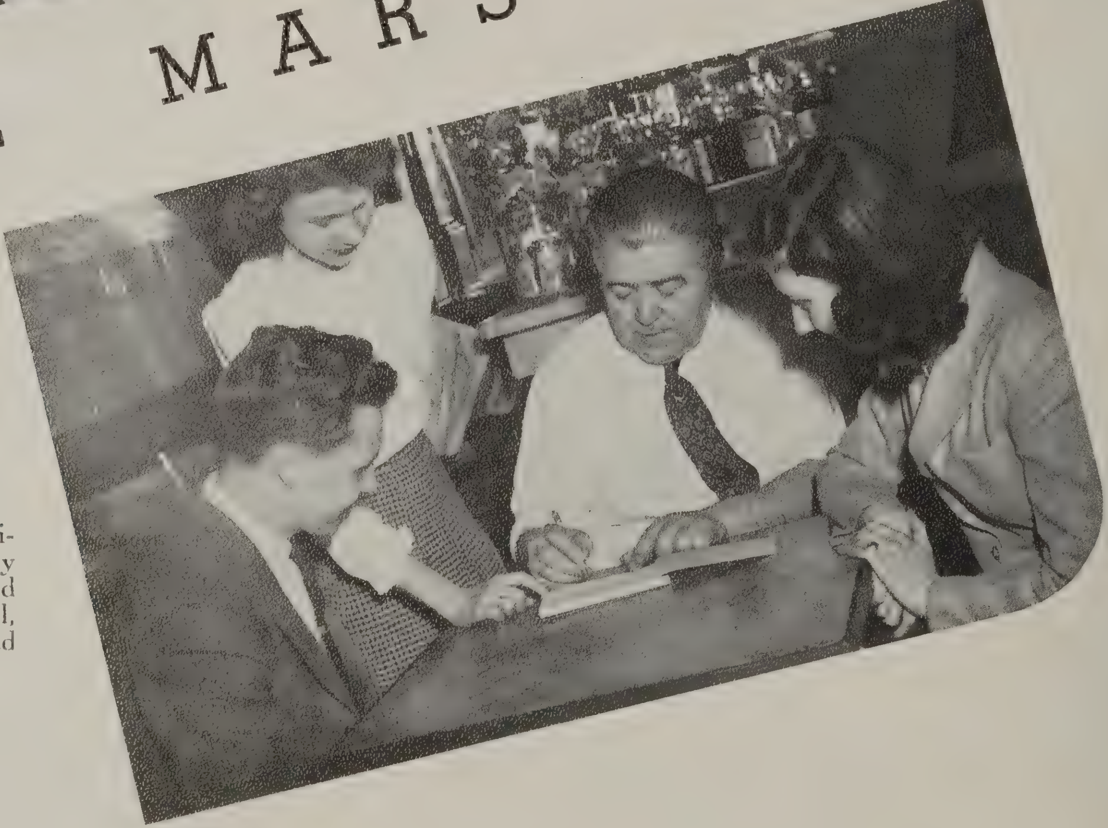
THE MARSHALLITE



Olga Skorapa, business manager; Teddy Throckmorton, and Frances Brockwell, ad collectors, get an ad

"IF AT FIRST you don't succeed, try, try again." This has been the slogan of the staff of the 1944 MARSHALLITE.

It has been hard work. We've spent many long, hard hours writing, checking, and planning for this book, but Miss Wright, our adviser, made every task seem light with her cheerful smile of encouragement.

We'll never forget our trips to the photographer, how thrilled we were over the new pictures, and the important feeling we had when we instructed the photographers, Mr. Gayle and Mr. Payne, how we wanted the pictures taken. Then early in the spring we began our almost daily visits to the printer's. There were also numerous journeys to the engraver's, where we were always met by Mr. Ford's gay welcome.

Early in the year the editors, Martha Page Du Val and Muriel Beasley, with Miss Wright, selected a capable group to serve on the business staff. This group immediately set out to solicit ads. Olga Skorapa, who received the greatest number of ads, was chosen as business manager, and Thomas White as her assistant. We were sorry to lose Tommy to the Navy in January, but he has paid the school frequent visits since he went into Uncle Sam's service.

Faithful work on our two circulation campaigns was done by the business staff and Joyce Wrenn, Myra Watson, Frances Brockwell, Doris Yarbrough and Teddy Throckmorton.

The first main task of the editorial staff was to notify all members of the graduating class, and make appointments for them with the photographer. Ann Beal, senior class editor, was assisted in this work by the co-editors.

Mary Addison, faculty editor, compiled the faculty section.

Careful planning was put on the sports section by Pauline Tucker and Gary Dennis, the sports editors.

We all agree that this annual would not have been possible without Miss Wright's able advice to the editors and staff.

The 1944 MARSHALLITE is our production; we are proud of it. When these students go into different roads of life, if this volume can bring back memories of high school days, the sadness, the joys, the 1944 MARSHALLITE will have been a success.

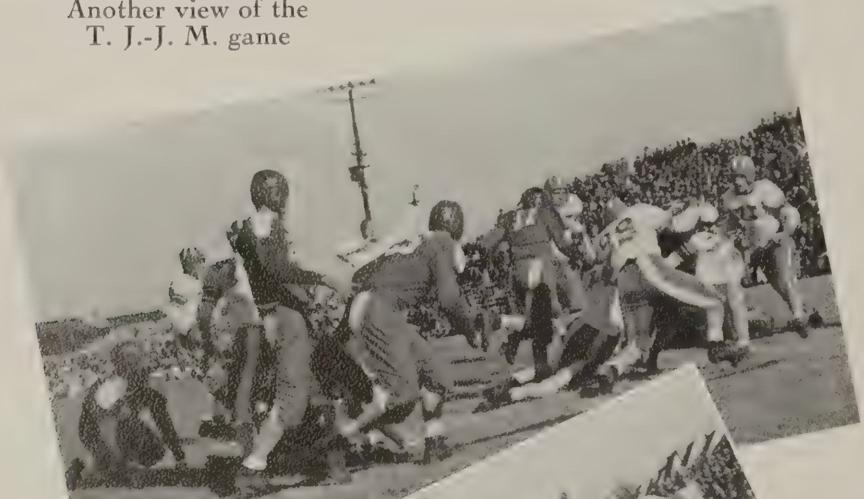
Thomas Jefferson defeats the Justices

Another view of the
T. J.-J. M. game



We meet St. Christopher's

John Marshall, 19—Crewe, 0

John Marshall, with a new coaching staff, opened its 1943 grid season by overpowering Crewe High, 19 to 0. Co-Captain Willie Sherrod scored first, but Farmer's try for the extra point failed. Crowell scored the second time by hitting the strong side of his line. Farmer's kick was blocked. Trainum scored the final tally and Farmer's kick was true. Crewe threatened only once on a series of passes by John Wilson.

John Marshall, 0—Reynolds, 19

The Justices traveled to Winston-Salem where R. J. Reynolds defeated them for the first time in four years. The Demons rolled over the Justices for the greater part of the first half and scored three times before the half-time whistle sounded. The Blue and White came back the second half full of revenge but were unable to score. However, they threw the Demons for great losses and held them in check until the final whistle.

John Marshall, 0—St. Christopher, 20

Led by Sam Swindell and Lynn Chewning, St. Christopher handed the Blue and White its second straight defeat to the tune of 20 to 0. The first quarter remained scoreless, although early in the second Chewning ran twenty-five yards to score. The extra point was good. Swindell scored the opponents' second tally on a one-yard plunge. The Justices until this had held them three down on the two. The final score came in the third quarter on a pass from Swindell, who followed up by making the extra point.

John Marshall, 6—Roanoke, 9

John Marshall dropped its third straight and first state championship game to Roanoke in a hard-fought contest in which the Justices rolled up eight first downs to the opponent's four. Roanoke scored in the early minutes of the game and the winning safety in the final quarter. The Justices' score came in the third quarter when Paul stepped thirty-five yards to score, following a twenty-seven yard gain by Ballinger.

John Marshall, 0—Granby, 12

John Marshall traveled to Norfolk to receive their fourth straight loss; this one at the hands of Granby, 12 to 0. The Comets scored in the first quarter on a series of wide, sweeping end runs and reverses, and again in the final quarter on a pass. The Blue and White marched to the Comets' three-yard line and again to their one on a pass from Paul to Sherrod, but failed to score.

John Marshall, 13—Hopewell, 12

Scoring in the second and third quarters, the Blue and White nosed out the Blue Devils, 13 to 12. Ballinger tallied both times for John Marshall and Farmer kicked the winning point following the second score. The visitors, trailing 13 to 0, scored once in the third quarter and again in the fourth to come within one point of the Justices. However, neither of their placements were good. The Justices were penalized a total of 105 yards before the final whistle blew.

John Marshall, 12—George Washington, 0

In rain and on a muddy field, the Blue and White rolled over George Washington High of Alexandria, 12 to 0, to take their second straight in the Class A contest. Crowell scored the first touchdown in the first quarter, climaxing a seventy-nine yard march by going over from the visitors' nine. In the final period Ballinger scampered fourteen yards on a reverse to score the final tally. Both tries for the placement failed. Buhrman played a brilliant defensive game for the Justices.

John Marshall, 0—Thomas Jefferson, 25

Playing before a crowd of 14,500 spectators, Thomas Jefferson defeated the Justices 25 to 0. The Blue and White held the Presidents to a 7 to 0 lead through the first half, but the Jeffersonians tallied three times in the second. Two of the President's scores were on blocked kicks behind the goal line after their back had kicked the ball out on the Justices' one-yard line. Honors go to Buhrman and Co-Captain Sherrod on brilliant work backing up the line.

John Marshall, 6—Petersburg, 18

John Marshall traveled to Petersburg on Thanksgiving Day for their final game of the 1943 grid season, only to receive their sixth defeat at the hands of the Waves. The Waves scored twice in the first quarter, Buck Kitchen accounting for the first and Bill Churn the second. The third period was scoreless, but, early in the fourth, Churn scored again for Petersburg. Ballinger accounted for the only Justice score when he scampered sixty yards for the tally in the fourth quarter. Farmer's kick was blocked.

JOHN MARSHALL'S "B" TEAM

John Marshall, 13—Highland Springs, 19

John Marshall "B" team played Highland Springs, October 7, and lost 19 to 13. The game was a shower of passes. The Justices scored in the first quarter, and Highland Springs made two touchdowns in the second quarter, both on passes. A spectacular tackle by Carl Walton smashed Highland Springs' chances of a fourth touchdown when a Justice pass was intercepted.

John Marshall, 0—St. Christopher, 13

The Junior varsity next tackled the St. Christopher "B" team to be defeated, 13 to 0. It was a fast game, both teams battling from start to finish. Each of the first two quarters saw St. Christopher score. Our team threatened in the second period, when the ball was taken close to the Saints' goal on runs by Alvin Bucher and Billy Moore, and passes from Moore to Saylers, and Pio Dalle Mura.

John Marshall, 2—Glen Allen, 6

Scoring in the first and fourth quarters, the John Marshall "B" team triumphed, 12 to 6, over a hard-fighting Glen Allen team. Early in the first quarter the Justices, under Captain Pio Dalle Mura, marched steadily toward the goal. After hitting a stubborn Glen Allen line, Alvin Bucher pushed through to score, but his kick bounded off the post. It was not until the last four minutes of play that the second John Marshall score was made.

John Marshall, 20—St. Christopher, 18

Revenging their former defeat, the junior varsity upset St. Christopher's "B" team, 20 to 18. Our team scored in the second quarter and again in the third, when Owens snagged a pass from Moore and ran fifty yards, with the help of excellent blocking. Credit is due Owens, also, for another touchdown in the final quarter after he hauled in a long pass and took the ball over.

John Marshall, 1—Thomas Jefferson, 4

The John Marshall "B" team met their rivals, the "B" team of Thomas Jefferson next. Thomas Jefferson scored twice in the initial period, and once each in the third and fourth quarters. The solitary John Marshall touchdown came on a third down in the final quarter, culminating a drive late in the third frame. Long kicks by Alvin Bucher took the Justices out of danger on many occasions. Our boys staged an excellent fight.

BASKE

Coach "Ducky" Denton's 1943-44 Justice Basketball Team ended their nineteen-game schedule with an average of .7273, winning eleven games and losing eight. It was an off-and-on season, losing most of their out-of-town games in overtime and ending up in third place in the city championship. The Justices took to the road for the first two games, losing both in overtime by two and one points respectively. The first game was with Salem, which ended in a 33-33 tie, but in the overtime, a hook-shot by Salyers was soon equaled by Salem, and in the final seconds Miller of Salem sank two foul shots to win.

In the next game the Justices were again defeated in overtime after the game ended in a 33-33 deadlock. Salyers put Jayem ahead in the overtime, but three foul shots by Roanoke, two of which were made by Slaughter in the last four seconds, won the game. When Roanoke was entertained on the home court of the Justices, the loss was revenged by an easy victory for John Marshall, who kept the lead throughout the game.

On their home court the Justices defeated Petersburg, 52-29, with the score at the half showing Jayem ahead, 26-15. A blackout came in the final quarter, but failed to stop the game, and with two and three-fourths minutes left in the game, John Marshall rallied to score sixteen points. In the second game with Petersburg, John Marshall rallied in the second half to win, 50-30. The first half was evenly fought, with a tie of 11-11 at the end of the first quarter and the Justices leading by only one point at the half. Salyers led scorers with eighteen points.

The Justices took both of their Norfolk opponents, Maury and Granby, on the Jayem court but lost to both in Norfolk. The first games were home games for John Marshall, trouncing Maury first to the tune of 43-26 and then beating Granby 46-39 the next day. In Norfolk, Maury beat the Justice team, 33-31. Jayem tied the score in the closing minutes of the game, 31-31, but in the overtime Allen Richter scored for the Commodores to win, 33-31. Granby also beat the Justices on their home court by the score of 36-35. John Marshall led at the half, 23-16, but Granby came from behind to win in the last few seconds. Billy Gathright and Salyers were the high scorers for the Justices with ten points each.

Saint Christopher defeated the Justices in both games, the first by the score of 30-29. John Marshall led at the half and had a small lead in the second half until the Saints staged a rally in the final quarter. In the second game John Marshall led at the end of first quarter but were behind, 18-17, at the half. The games ended with the Justice team trailing, 39-25.

In the two contests with Benedictine, played on the Tee-Jay floor, John Marshall was the victor. The Justices never gave Benedictine the lead in the first game, and when the final whistle sounded, John Marshall led, 47-31. John Burhman led the scorers for John Marshall fourteen points, followed by Captain Whit Crowell with eleven. Jayem took the second game to the tune of 43-23. John Marshall led at the half, 18-11. Garfield Salyers and Billy Gathright led scorers with nineteen points each.

John Marshall split their two games with Thomas Jefferson, winning the first but losing the second, which moved them into third place in the city championship. Eleven hundred fans saw Jayem defeat the favored Jeffs in the first game, 36-27. Although the Jeffersonians were a slight favorite to top the Marshallites, the Blue and White team completely played the taller boys off their feet. The Justices completely outplayed the Presidents the whole game, and the score at the half was 17-10. Salyers led in points with fifteen, while Crowell came next with thirteen. A crowd of 1,500 packed the Tee-Jay gym to see the Presidents get off to a fast start and outplay John Marshall to the tune of 33-14. The score at the half showed Tee-Jay leading, 16-7. The Justices were held to seven points in each half and the highest scorers for Jayem were Moore and Gathright, with four points each. Our team in this game had no resemblance whatever to the team that handed Tee-Jay its only defeat of the '44 campaign. Poor ball handling and lack of court finesse ruined the Justices from the start.

Captain Whit Crowell, Billy Gathright, and Garfield Salyers, Jr., were named on the mythical all-city team last week.

Benedictine and Thomas Jefferson were represented by Granville Hammer and Dick Hungerford, respectively. Hungerford led the scorers with 218 points through the Hampton game. Granville Hammer finished the season with 129 points, and the three all-city Justices had more than 130 each, through the Saint Christopher's game.

Billy Moore, Alfred Lane, and John Stoneburner ran the boys who made all-city a close race for positions. Billy Gathright is captain.

THE John Marshall thinclads with a very scanty schedule, consisting of only one dual meet, a triangular meet, a city meet, and the annual Tidewater meet at Williamsburg, experienced an unsuccessful season this year. The Justices were defeated in the dual meet by Thomas Jefferson, 69½ to 47½, but took second place in both the triangular meet and the city meet. In the annual Tidewater meet at Williamsburg, Jayem placed sixth with Captain Jack Ittner scoring the only points and setting a new record in the discus.

In the dual affair, held at the Jayem field, the Justices dropped the meet to Tee-Jay after Jack Ittner accounted for twenty-five points by taking five first places. Robert Spicer, who led in the javelin throw, was the only other entry to take a first place for John Marshall.

The second start for the Justices was the triangular meet between Thomas Jefferson, Saint Christopher, and John Marshall in which they took second place with 47½ points to Tee-Jay's 91½ and Saint Christopher's 2. All of the first places but four, which were

In the Tidewater meet, held at William and Mary College, John Marshall took sixth place with only twelve points, and all of these were made by Ittner with first places in the discus and 220-yard dash and a third place in the shot put. Ittner set a new record for John Marshall and Tidewater in the discus when he tossed it 127 feet, 2 inches.

John Marshall took another second place in the city meet with 57 points, while Tee-Jay took first with 82, and Saint Christopher was third with only 4. Ittner again accounted for five first places in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, shot put, and discus, while Spicer set a new school record for the javelin, tossing it 174 feet, 1¼ inches. Second places went to Joe Cheatham in the 880-yard run, Claude Patterson in the shot put, and Charles Brown in the high jump.

Captain Jack Ittner, who was running in his last scholastic meet, was the only representative of John Marshall at the annual "C" Club meet in Washington.

Limited to entrance in only three events, Ittner took part in the 100-yard dash, the shot put, and the discus. He ran the first 100-yard dash in ten seconds flat, but in the finals, because of a bad start, failed to place.

However, Jack got seven points, taking a first in the discus with a throw of 125 feet, 9½ inches, and a third in the shot put.

HOCKEY

ON A bright September day Miss Helen Hamilton McKenny, new girls' physical education instructor from Fredericksburg, Virginia, was greeted by approximately twenty-two hockey prospects at Hotchkiss Field. The first afternoon was spent getting acquainted, reviewing rules, and teaching the fundamentals of the game. Only a small number of girls returned from the '42 hockey season.

Each Tuesday and Thursday of the weeks that followed Miss McKenny had the girls practice until they were ready to scrimmage among themselves.

Before the first game Edith Brandt was elected captain and Lawson King served as manager. Miss McKenny announced that the team would play six games in the city league, the first one with Westhampton College on October 20.

During the first half the ball volleyed back and forth and finally Westhampton broke through the defense of the blue team to capture two goals. Our team came back filled with enthusiasm only to be met by strong and refreshed opponents, who quickly scored three more goals, taking the game by a total of 5 to 0.

On November 4, the John Marshall lassies met the Richmond Hockey Club, consisting of former high school and college players. From start to finish, though the Justices put up a real fight, it was hopeless. In the first half the Hockey Club broke through John Marshall's wavering defenses time after time to score four goals.

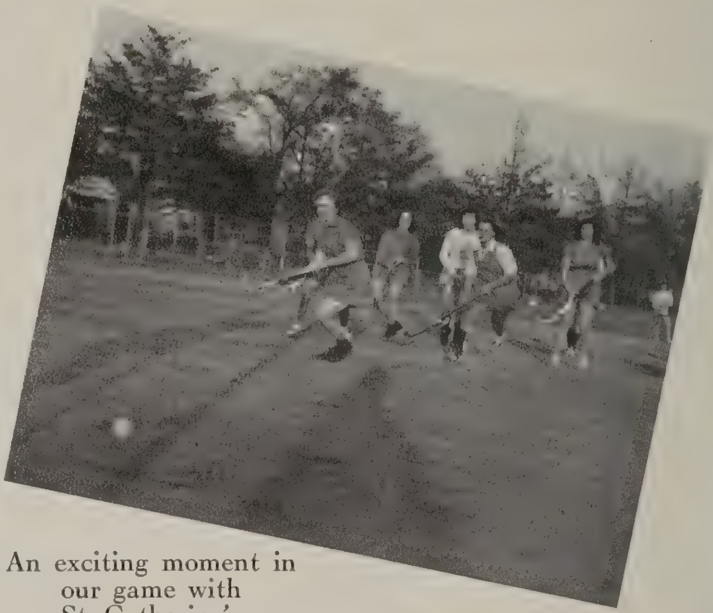
Coming back after half time, the Hockey Club battered the green Justices back to capture five more goals and crushed the Blue and Whites with a total of 9 to 0. The Richmond Hockey Club's fast star, McLaughlin, was high scorer with five points.

On November 9, the Marshallites once more faced an opponent who was to prove too strong and skilled for the young Jayem girls. The game started with St. Catherine's School immediately taking the offensive and pushing the bewildered Blue team deep into their own territory. As in games before, the Justices were held scoreless and, though they tried, they just weren't good enough to hold back the tough St. Catherine girls. This game was John Marshall' worst defeat, with a score of 10-0.

In our game with Collegiate, on November 5, after a few minutes of playing time, June Nolde, of Collegiate, made a goal which was followed by three more, placing Collegiate in front. During the second half, John Marshall lost all hopes of victory, but continued to play their hardest, even though Collegiate scored four more goals to win, 8 to 0.

With four defeats behind them, the John Marshall lassies turned their heads toward their fifth game. It seemed that the breaks were really against the Blue team, as they lost two regulars, Betty Nuckols and Lawson King, on the eve of the Tee Jay game. With the odds against them, on November 17, they nevertheless determined to play the best game of the season. The first half showed John Marshall an improved defensive team, as they held the Belt Liners to two goals, but their offensive game was off, as they failed to break ice. In the second half Tee Jay made two fast goals to make the score 4 to 0, and the Justices could do nothing better than hold the score down, as the Belt Liners' defense was airtight the entire game.



An exciting moment in our game with St. Catherine's

Their game with the Richmond Professional Institute was on November 21. Both teams were keyed up for this game, as it was the last of the season for both squads. The first half was marked by good defensive play, and it ended with the score tied, 0-0. R. P. I. came back in the second half to score once, and this won the game, as Jayem failed to score.

COACH McKENNEY, hoping for a better season with her basketball team, called all interested girls to the gym. About thirty aspirants showed up, and henceforth reported every Tuesday and Thursday for practice.

Pauline Tucker was elected captain of the varsity; Maureen Journey, captain of the B team; and Jean Ann Smith, manager of both teams. A schedule was worked out whereby each team would play six games.

The first game for the varsity was played January 20, when Varina traveled up to meet the Justice girls on our court. It was a slow game at first, with the score standing 3-3 at the end of the first quarter. Varina turned on the steam and beat John Marshall 25 to 13.

The John Marshall girls next met the Richmond Basketball Club, a team composed of former college and high school alumnae. The Club girls overpowered the Justices to the tune of 43 to 12.

On February 12, John Marshall played the Westhampton College team. The Justices played well during the first half, giving the opponents a tough fight, but tired out after that. In the fourth quarter the visitors scored fifteen points, and won, 42 to 14. Gustafson of Westhampton led the scoring with eighteen points.

February 9, the B team played the B's of Westhampton at the College. Throughout the game, the Justices trailed, and were finally defeated, 28 to 15.

In their first game away from home, the varsity opposed St. Catherine's School in a very interesting game. The lead continued to volley back and forth, with the St. Catherine girls ahead at the end of the first half. During the final half the Justices were outscored by one point. The final score was 26 to 18 in favor of St. Catherine's.

Next the Justice juniors were opposed by the B team of St. Catherine's. Throughout the game the Jay-Em team outscored St. Catherine's. The final whistle gave John Marshall girls their first victory of the season, a win of 24 to 12.

February 23 brought the looked-for game with Tee-Jay. But our uptown rivals completely outclassed us, and took the game to the tune of 33 to 9.

The next day the B teams of these two schools clashed on our home court. Madeline Yancey played a splendid game for our team, and due to her, the Justices weren't nosed out until the last few seconds of play. The Tee-Jay B team finally won the count, 37 to 35.

The Justice B team played St. Gertrude's School on the Robert E. Lee court, and, in a slow, dull game, outplayed their opponents, coming out on the top of an 18 to 14 score.

March 2 closed the varsity season, when they met the Richmond Professional Institute. They lost this game, 38 to 16, to a faster, better team.

Later our B team met the B team of the same school, and were whipped 39 to 15.

The B team's final game was with Binford. The Justices trailed till the final quarter, then forged ahead, finally winning 15 to 12.

A MESSAGE TO JOHN MARSHALL SENIORS

Though a Naval Unit is here, we have civilian students as well. Our year is now divided into three terms of four months each. In twelve months a student may complete work equivalent to that done in one and one-half sessions of the pre-war era. New men are admitted July 1, November 1, March 1.

If interested, write

EDGAR G. GAMMON, President,

Life Insurance for Safety . . and Security

A successful savings plan must provide a regular amount to be saved on a regular day for a specific purpose.

Life Insurance is the best plan yet devised to teach us the habit of saving and to keep us faithful to that habit. It is not an expense but a savings. It should be the first factor in everyone's program—the last to let go.

Life Insurance creates an estate immediately, which might otherwise never be acquired. Make sure of your estate by the purchase of life insurance while you are young.

No Friends at Court

Search the quotation books and you will find few, if any, remarks in praise of poverty. Perhaps a "rich uncle" or some other ancestor addicted to thrift will take care of your needs for future financial independence. But if you cannot count on such a windfall, your best bet is to start saving money as soon as you can. A life insurance savings program gives unique and numerous advantages to young men and women.

The Mark of a Champion . . .

WHEN a young man can face the business world with the same undaunted courage that he bucks the line in football, and can take the bumps that inevitably will come to him in business, and can keep his fighting spirit and keep smiling . . . then he has the mark of a champion. The world needs young men like this and the world will make way for them. The life insurance business needs such men, so why not prepare yourself for a career in the life insurance business. It's a business of opportunity for young men of ambition and vision.

A COLLEGE ANNUAL requires the undivided interest and attention of Editor, Business Manager and Publisher if it is to present that much desired appearance of Character.

¶ For that reason, Everett Waddey Company handles only a limited number of annuals each year — a limited number so as to permit proper service.

¶ Everett Waddey Company of Richmond, Virginia, alone was responsible to the Staff of THE MARSHALLITE for 1944 for the correct manufacture of THE MARSHALLITE.
